FARMERS ORGANIZE

Preliminary Steps Taken at Denver Congress to Form a State Body.

OFFICERS ELECTED

AUDITOR BENT DELIVERS INTERESTING ADDRESS ON THE SUBJECT OF IRRIGATION.

DENVER, Jan. 30.—Preliminary steps for the formation of a permanent organization to bring together the representatives of the farming industries of the state were taken today by the election of temporary officers and committees of the Farmers congress, which held its initial session at the chamber of commerce building.

The attendance was greater than had been anticipated, more than 200 farmers and stockgrowers in Colorado being present, and with one accord they pledged their hearty support for the inauguration of "Farmers' week," which, it is intended, will bring their people together in this city once every year. Frank M. Church of Jefferson county was elected temporary chairman by a unanimous vote, and Clarence A. Tyman, temporary secretary.

Resolutions were adopted asking better and more accurate service on crop reports from the bureau of statistics, department of agriculture, indorsing the position of the president in requiring a commission to regulate and fix just rates whenever a complaint is filed by any shipper, urging congressmen to support the Hepburn bill, expressing appreciation of the state board of agriculture for its action in establishing a short course for farmers at the state agricultural college, and objecting to the removal of duties on raw sugar imported from the Philippines or other countries where cane is grown by cheap labor.

Much interest was expressed in the paper of State Auditor Bent, who used for his subject, "The Farmer, the Real Conservator of Colorado Water," and his remarks were practically the keynote of the congress.

"A remarkable transformation has taken place in the agricultural features of the state in the last six years, due in a measure to the wonderful development of the sugar beet industry," he said. "In intense farming we should rivet our attention prompt and steadfast in the exertion of every possible effort to securely preserve and increase our right to the use of our water, which is the absolute and indispensable basis of our present prosperous condition and of the greater Colorado, to which we all refer with pride.

"A conservative estimate of the amount of water now annually passing out of the state, based upon guage readings, taken at or near the state line on eleven streams, amounts to 7,000,000 acre feet, the value of which, computed at the actual selling price of reservation water in portions of Colorado, amounts to $275,000,000, or $25,000,000 more than the assessed value of the state."

THE GREENE-GAYNOR CASE UNINTERRUPTED

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 30.—[illegible] progress than has marked any previous day of the trial was made in the federal court today in the case of Greene and Gaynor. J. W. O. Sterly of Savannah and George W. Marlow of New York were the chief witnesses today, and their testimony was interesting. Mr. Sterly testified that Captain Carter left Savannah June 30, 1897, taking with him two checks which he filled out in Washington upon receiving telegraphic notice from Sterly of the amounts the latter had in the meantime figured out as due Greene and Gaynor. Then, without having seen the accounts at all, the witness said Carter signed the checks, one for $145,000 and the other for $230,000, and payment was made.

FORTY BILLS PASS SENATE

MANY MEASURES OF IMPORTANCE DISPOSED OF—SHIPPING UNDER DISCUSSION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The senate today passed about forty bills, many of them of considerable importance. The list included a number of measures for lighthouses, for [illegible] revenue cutter vessels and public buildings, and also the bill providing for the reorganization of the consular service, which passed practically without discussion. It makes provision for the classification of consular officers in grades, gives the president authority to transfer officers from one station to another, provides an inspection service with five inspectors, who are to rank as consuls general; requires that clerks at consulates shall be Americans, prohibits consuls from engaging in law business and requires that all consular fees shall be accounted for.

The shipping bill was under consideration for a time. It was amended so as to relieve it from constitutional objections and Mr. Lodge delivered a speech in support of the bill in which he gave the details of a combination of the owners of foreign sailing vessels for the purpose of controlling the freight rate on grain shipments from the United States. There also was a discussion of the bill making common carriers liable for injuries to employes, which arose over the question of its reference to a committee. Some of the senators intimated that the committees were anxious to avoid the responsibility of passing on these measures.

Mr. Patterson gave notice of a speech tomorrow on the Moroccan and Dominican questions.

AN INNOCENT TRANSGRESSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—An innocent transgression of the rules guarding the prerogatives of the house resulted when Senator Warren of Wyoming escorted President Roosevelt's two sisters, Mrs. Cowles and Mrs. Robinson, and two gentlemen into the private lobby just back of the hall of the house during the session today.

This lobby is so sacredly reserved for members that the rules forbid the speaker to entertain a motion to admit others. Senator Warren, accustomed to the practice of the senate to entertain guests in the marble room, which corresponds to the house lobby, escorted the party into the lobby and temporarily left his guests.

Assistant Doorkeeper Kennedy, with apologies, escorted them hurriedly beyond the deadline and to a place in the gallery reserved for the president and his friends.

HONEY RAISERS ARE ASSEMBLED

STATE BEEKEEPERS CONVENTION BEING HELD IN DENVER—BEES IN BAD CONDITION.

DENVER, Jan. 30.—To devise means of improving the quality of their stock formed the principal topic of discussion at the State Beekeepers' convention which opened at the chamber of commerce today. About 100 of the leading beekeepers of Colorado were in attendance. Acting President M. A. McGill presided.

In contrast with the general report of last year's meeting, when it was shown that the honey crop was the biggest recorded in many years, the yield in the last year has been almost a failure throughout the state. It was feared several months ago that the bees would not live throughout the year, but with the favorable weather beekeepers agree that they have had few losses so far, and if no severe climatic conditions are encountered in the next two months, they believe their stock will survive until June. At present, however, they have not sufficient honey to live on, and most keepers have ben obliged to give them other food. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected at the closing session tomorrow.

PACKERS TESTIFY

All Insist That Garfield Promised Them Immunity for Information.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Edward Morris, vice president of the Fairbanks Canning company, and a member of the firm of Nelson Morris and company, testified today in the packers' case that he had been required by Commissioner Garfield to produce for the inspection of the commissioner the secret profit and loss books of his company, after the commissioner had prepared his report upon the beef industry. He further declared that Mr. Garfield had taken these books and had inspected them. He told first of receiving the assurance from the commissioner that no knowledge that would be furnished by the packers would be used against them, of how he gave the information to the commissioner and his representatives and then declared that Commissioner Garfield, returned to Chicago with the greater part of his report in proofs which he submitted to Morris. The witness said that he read the proofs and told Mr. Garfield that the report was correct. The commissioner then, the witness asserted, demanded that the profit and loss books of the company be brought to the down-town office of Morris and company, for his inspection. They were brought and the commissioner looked them over.

The statement that the commissioner had called for the secret books after completing his report caused a stir in court, but the witness insisted that he was "required" by Commissioner Garfield to submit the books to him.

The other witnesses for the day were L. C. Krauthoff, who was on the stand yesterday, Samuel McRoberts, treasurer of Armour and company, and Charles G. Dawes, former comptroller of the treasury and now president of the Central Trust company of this city. Both Mr. Dawes and Mr. McRoberts insisted, with much emphasis that they had heard Commissioner Garfield declare that any information he might procure from the packers would not be used against them.

COAL OPERATORS TO HOLD MEETING

JOINT SCALE COMMITTEE ASKED TO ADJOURN ON THIS ACCOUNT—MITCHELL SURPRISED.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 30.—The regular meeting of the joint scale committee of the operators and miners of the central competitive district will be called to order at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and will remain in session until 10 o'clock, when adjournment will be taken in order to permit the operators to attend a called meeting. Whether this meeting of the operators is to be held for the purpose of formulating a counter proposition to the demands of the miners' scale committee is not known.

When informed tonight that the operators would hold a meeting tomorrow, President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers appeared surprised, saying that he had not been advised that there would be any interruption of the meeting of the joint scale committee.

In answer to a question, President Mitchell said there would be no session of the United Mine Workers' convention until after adjournment of the joint scale committee.

FIGHT AGAINST CHILD LABOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Plans to enlist the support of all the clergymen of the country in favor of the movement for the suppression of child labor were discussed at a meeting held in this city today under the auspices of the National Child Labor convention. Bishop Coadjutor Greer of the diocese of New York and a number of other prominent churchmen attended. Further meetings will be held here to perfect the scheme through which it is hoped to have a day set apart in every church in the United States to be observed as children's day when sermons will be delivered dealing with the subject of child labor.

CHARGE OF DUPLICITY WHOLLY IMAGINARY

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 30.—King Oscar and Crown Prince Gustave today expressed a sense of deep bereavement as a result of the death of King Christian of Denmark. King Oscar said he knew King Christian acted with perfect loyalty throughout the difficulties between Sweden and Norway, and the Swedish king deprecated the feeling of resentment among some people in Sweden against Denmark on account of the accession of King Haakon. He said he was convinced that the charge of duplicity brought against Denmark in Sweden was entirely imaginary.

BODIES UNITE

National Live Stock and American Stock Growers Associations Consolidate.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 30.—Consolidation of the National Live Stock association and the American Stock Growers association was effected here today by the annual convention of the two organizations. The American National Live Stock association is the name adopted for the amalgamated body and represents 20,000 stock growers. Murdo Mackenzie of Trinidad, Colo., was unanimously elected president of the new association on a rising vote of the joint convention of the delegates of the two associations. Mr. Mackenzie has been president of the American Stock Growers association since its organization in this city a year ago by seceders from the National Live Stock association. This split was caused by the decision to give representation in the stockmen's conventions to railroads and packers. In the association organized today, with which will be affiliated 45 subsidiary associations, only stock growers will be represented.

RATE MEASURE UP IN HOUSE

IT IS GIVEN OVER TO DEBATE—ROOSEVELT'S PLAN HAS MANY FRIENDS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Members of the house evinced a more general interest in the discussion of the railroad rate bill throughout the day than any topic of legislation for some time. The debate throughout was listened to attentively and many questions were asked of the different speakers to bring out either obscure points in the measure or evils complained of, which no attempt had been made to include in the bill. The debate was opened by Mr. Townsend of Michigan in an exhaustive argument on the general subject and sharp criticism directed to those who had opposed railroad rate legislation. Mr. Adamson of Georgia, representing the minority, followed in commendation of the measure and in praise of President Roosevelt's stand on the question, which he said the minority were availing themselves of in the present instance.

Mr. Hinshaw of Nebraska depicted the benefit the legislation would do to the great Transmississippi country, and Mr. Richardson of Alabama discussed as a Democrat the things left undone in the measure.

Questions addressed to the various speakers by Mr. Sherley of Kentucky and Mr. Littlefield of Maine indicated that there is to be some opposition to the bill, at least in debate. The feature seemingly subject to attack is as to just what will be the authority of the Interstate Commerce commission under the bill relative to differentials in rates between competing cities or localities.

CASTRO AT CARACAS.

CARACAS, Jan. 27.—Via Trinidad, Jan. 30.—President Castro returned to Caracas this morning and was given an enthusiastic reception by the people.

NEGLECT CHARGED

Valencia Disaster Under Investigation—Relief Expeditions Criticised.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 30.—At today's session of the [illegible] into the loss of the Valencia, [illegible] Allison, of St. Paul, a passenger, testified that the [illegible] was not [illegible]. He [illegible] that he had [illegible] and that the [illegible] that finally battered the Valencia to pieces [illegible] published accounts of the wreck have been described as [illegible] and a terrible sur[illegible].

"Every one seemed to shirk," said Allison, testifying before the board of inspectors in the Valencia investigation. "All seemed to be afraid to help or to attempt to help the unfortunate men and women who were facing death. The vessel at sea stood off and made no attempt to lower a boat. In the morning, after the last raft put off from the Valencia, there was no great sea running. Not a wave had a comber on it. There might have been some excuse for the Queen not coming in close, but there was a tug alongside of her that did not come any closer than the large vessel. It all looked wrong to me, all wrong."

"Did the conduct of the officers of the vessel meet with your approval?"

"I was in my bunk when the vessel struck and immediately went on deck. Everything was quiet and orderly then. Some one gave an order to lower the boats to the saloon deck. I could not see, but think the order came from some one in authority. After a few moments, when they were lowering the starboard boat, the crowd gathered around it. After people were jumping in there was much confusion. I could not distinguish faces, it being so dark. I don't know who gave the word to lower the boat to the water, but it might have been one of the officers or some excited passengers. Anyway the boat went down the ship's side. For a moment it

NEGRO COMMITS AWFUL CRIME

CUTS YOUNG WOMAN'S THROAT AND LEAVES HER TO DIE—POSSE OF DEPUTIES IN PURSUIT.

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 30.—Mrs. Nina May Dupree, a young woman about 20 years of age, who lives with W. H. Grogan, a prosperous farmer, about six miles from Atlanta, near Cornell, was assaulted by a negro this afternoon. After cutting her throat and leaving her in a dying condition from loss of blood and nervous excitement, the negro escaped. A posse of more than 100 citizens with hounds is following the negro tonight, and if he is captured he will in all probability be summarily lynched.

The assault upon the young woman occurred some time between the hours of 1 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Grogan and his wife, returning from Atlanta at that hour, found Mrs. Dupree dying in the dining room in a pool of blood. Physicians who were immediately summoned despair of her recovery. She was too weak to say more than a tall, black negro was the perpetrator of the crime.

DOYLE-HERSHEY CASES DISMISSED

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Jan. 30.—The charge of contempt of court against J. C. Hershey for alleged efforts to influence jurors in the trial of the $600,000 Doyle-Burns mining case last March was dismissed today after three days spent in hearing testimony. Judge Thornell held that there was not proof to convict Hershey. The $10,000 damage suit started by Hershey against Doyle was dismissed.

RIGA, Livonia, Jan. 29.—The police have discovered a plot to kill General Sollogub, the governor general of the provinces, and several high civil and military officers have been arrested. Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of New York, president, presided, and former President Cleveland was among the speakers. Mr. Cleveland received an ovation when he was introduced. His speech did not touch upon any questions of great public or political issue, but was a discussion of the relations of doctors with their [illegible].

NEW YORK STATE MAY PRINT 5,000 COPIES OF INSURANCE INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 30.—After a [illegible] hearing, in which charges [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] Armstrong [illegible] representatives of the [illegible] printing company [illegible] to report [illegible] the bill of Senator Armstrong [illegible] 5,000 copies of the [illegible] taken in the insurance investigation at a cost of [illegible].

Mr. Armstrong made charges of unfounded delays by the printers and told of an alleged deal between [illegible] [illegible], he said, the stenographers [illegible] had sent out 800 circulars offering the testimony to be bound for sale at $150 per set, the stenographer to receive 40 per cent commission. The committee compelled the cancelling of what orders he had received.

"If we printed 5,000 copies," he said, "there would not be enough to fill the requests received by the committee, which have been coming from all sections of the country."

ITALY FAITHFUL TO HER ALLIANCE

ROME, Jan. 30.—In the chamber of deputies today Premier Fortis, in referring to the foreign policy of the government, said that Italy would be faithful to her alliance, but would use the best efforts looking to the maintenance of the peace of the world. At the conference now being held at Algeciras, he said, the Italian delegates were participating in the work of conciliation, which was desired by all the powers, particularly by those most directly interested.

The premier announced that the government intended to introduce a measure confirming the term of service in the army two years. The statement was frequently interrupted by members of the opposition and at its close there was such a tumult that the premier was compelled to adjourn the sitting.

TO INVESTIGATE NEW YORK MERGER

CITY BOARD OF ALDERMEN MAY LOOK INTO PROPOSED BIG STREET CAR COMBINE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—A resolution for an investigation of the merger by which the elevated, surface and subway roads in Manhattan and the Bronx was recently placed under the control of the Interborough Metropolitan company, was introduced in the board of aldermen of New York city today by Borough President Bird S. Coler of Brooklyn. Mr. Coler, in asking for the investigation, made the following claims: That the merger tends toward an absolute monopoly of passenger transportation in New York city; that the interests which have joined in the merger have already been in practical control of transportation service of the city and have conducted that service without the slightest regard for the public service; that it is intended to add to the present capitalization of the companies in the merger, "a stock issue of one hundred and eight million dollars, representing little or nothing in the way of real value except the privilege of extorting from the public through car-fare tax," and that the new interests are about to obtain control of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system.

POSED AS OFFICERS

Two Men Arrested at Victor for Impersonating Colo. Springs Policemen.

CLAIMED TO BE

CHIEF ADAMS AND DETECTIVE SCHULTZ—PRETENDED TO BE WORKING ON A ROBBERY CASE.

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Jan. 30.—F. M. Fishback, aged 34, and Willard Johnson, aged 23, of Colorado Springs, were arrested late tonight at the city hall by the police on the charge of impersonating officers. Fishback claimed to be Chief of Police Adams of Colorado Springs and Johnson was posing as Detective Schultz of the same place. They represented that they were on the trail of a man and two girls who were suspected of being the guilty parties in the jewelry robbery at the Manitou depot of the Colorado Midland railroad several nights ago. The first record of Fishback's pretension to be a Sherlock Holmes in disguise is that he approached George Heber and Fay Daniels, two boys, and introduced himself as Chief Adams of the valley city. The men told the boys that they were trying to get track of two girls whom they attempted to describe. At that moment two girls were seen alighting from a street car and the two Victor youths were told to shadow them and report back to a point near the city hall. The boys followed the girls to a point near the oil tank in Golconda and came back breathlessly, saying that the girls disappeared as if the earth had swallowed them. Officer Putt overheard the remark and questioned the boys concerning the story told by the pretending officers.

"Show me Chief Adams," said Putt, who thought he saw something queer in the affair. The boys conducted Putt to Fishback. He accepted an introduction to Putt as Chief of Police Adams of Colorado Springs and said he was working on the Manitou robbery case.

At the same time Johnson, Fishback's partner, was entertaining the police along different lines. Entering the office of the Victor chief of police, where sat Jailer Ted Sturtevant and Officer William E. Barney, Johnson said: "I am from Colorado Springs, and I'm working on a little case up here. I want you," addressing Sturtevant, "to give me the name of rooming houses where no questions are asked. I think there is a man and two girls that I want in some such place."

"I won't do anything of the kind," replied Sturtevant, "and furthermore, I don't know of any such places." Johnson left in a temper and met Officers Putt and Barney coming towards the station with his companion, Fishback. Both men were lodged in jail. Before being locked up they admitted that they were not officers but professed to have some interest in the Manitou case, the nature of which they would not reveal. Johnson objected to being held and had to be forced behind the bars. He had a Rio Grande railway pass. Both had money and were well dressed. Fishback had a photograph receipt book and claims to have opened a studio in this city.

LONGSWORTH'S SISTER ARRIVES FOR WEDDING

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Miss Alice Roosevelt and her fiance, Congressman Nicholas Longworth boarded a revenue cutter today and proceeded down New York harbor to meet the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, upon which Countess De Chambrun, Mr. Longworth's sister, was a passenger. The countess, who was formerly Miss Clara Longworth of Cincinnati, has come to this country as a guest at Miss Roosevelt's wedding. At the quarantine where the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse slowed down speed, the revenue cutter went along side the big liner. An attempt was made to lower a companion ladder for Miss Roosevelt, but the delay in doing this was too great and Miss Roosevelt boarded the steamer by the pilot ladder.

WESTERN SHEEPMEN WANT NEW SHIPPING LAWS PASSED

DENVER, Jan. 30.—The sheepmen have ideas of their own concerning a modification of the law requiring cattle to be unloaded every 28 hours while in transit.

The National Woolgrowers association, at its annual convention here today, adopted a resolution favoring a change in the law making the minimum running time of trains carrying sheep 16 miles an hour. The resolution also had a clause which proposes a change enabling the shipper of livestock to have the unloading done every 36 hours, if a request in writing is made to the railroad. The sheepmen insist that they be not compelled to unload at night, claiming that it is difficult to handle sheep in the darkness of night. The changes proposed by the resolution referred to have the sanction of the National Humane society.

Another resolution adopted today favors an increase in the annual appropriations for the support of the bureau of animal industry from $25,000 to $250,000.

[illegible] D. Melvin, chief of the bureau, and his assistant, G. M. [illegible], addressed the convention, telling it [illegible] needs of the bureau. Mr. Ronnell said that the bureau was planning to establish an experiment station somewhere in Wyoming to develop an ideal range for sheep. This would be done when sufficient money was in hand for the project.

A committee was appointed to meet tomorrow with the shipping law committee of the American National Live Stock association.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Senator Francis E. Warren, of Cheyenne, re-elected; vice president for the west, Dr. J. M. Wilson, of Cheyenne; vice president for the [illegible], Mortimer Levering, Chicago; secretary, George S. Walker, Cheyenne, Wyo.; treasurer, A. J. Knollin, Chicago, re-elected; executive committee, Arizona, E. S. Gosney; California, J. A. Jastro; Colorado, Donald McIntosh; Idaho, Fred Gooding; Illinois, Mortimer Levering; Indiana, W. W. REVOLUTIONISTS ABANDON CAUSE AND PLEAD FOR MERCY

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—Alarmed by the vigorous campaign waged by the troops under General Alikhanoff, the inhabitants of the Caucasus are abandoning the revolutionist cause. They are coming in by thousands to make submission and are giving the most abject promises of good conduct in the future. The campaign against the active insurgents in the mountains has thereby been much facilitated. In many cases the inhabitants themselves have seized and delivered up the ringleaders of the insurgents.

In a telegram to the emperor, Count Vorvorentsoff-Dashkoff, viceroy of the Caucasus, says General Alikhanoff received one delegation of 3,000 persons, representing 12 communes, near Kwirili. The deputation, which was headed by nobles and clergymen, promised to stop the disasters, to return all property and arms seized and to pay all arrears of rent and taxes if the general would refrain from punishing their people. Another deputation brought in the participants in the attack upon the troops at Tengira, bound with ropes. These participants will be executed.

In the district of Ozurgeti, however, the viceroy says, almost the entire population remains obdurate. One-half of the people have fled to the mountains and others are roaming the country, ravaging it and burning houses.

Count Witte has received from the governor of Moghileff an account of the excesses at Gomel, where there has been fighting in the streets and incendiarism. The origin of the disturbances the governor attributes to the murder of the police lieutenant by revolutionists. The troops while they are restoring order are subjected to attacks with bombs and bullets from the houses. The governor says the soldiers are forced to answer these attacks by firing volleys. The number of dead or wounded is not known, as the victims are sheltered by their coreligionists. During the recent fire at Gomel the frequent explosions of bombs and ammunition showed that the revolutionists were well prepared for the struggle.

DISORDER AMONG SAILORS.

CHINAMEN SMUGGLED IN.

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 30.—From information received here today it is believed that a carload of Chinamen was successfully shipped to Bakersfield, Cal., recently by smugglers. The car in which they were smuggled, it is said, was engaged for a shipment of furniture, the freight on which had been prepaid. The car was left at Bakersfield, but no one having claimed it, it was opened. There was evidence to show that the car had borne human freight.

LENGTH OF PERIOD OF MOURNING

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—The length of the period of mourning of the Russian court for King Christian has not been determined upon. The court chamberlain is looking up precedents. Owing to the relationship of the emperor to the deceased monarch he will probably order a longer time for mourning than usual. The imperial family will be represented at the funeral by Grand Duke Michael and the Grand Duchess Olga in addition to the dowager empress.

HAMILTON IS TO EXPLAIN

INVESTIGATION AGENT OF NEW YORK LIFE CALLED A STATEMENT SO SWORN.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Thomas F. Fowler, chairman of the investigating committee announced tonight that he had received an account from Andrew Hamilton, who was in charge of the company's legislative interests of the various large sums expended by him. The accounting was made in Paris, he added, and the papers are now on their way to this country. Awaiting their arrival and examination the meeting of the board of trustees to hear the Frankler report has been postponed to February 2.

"We have succeeded in getting an accounting from Mr. Hamilton," said Mr. Fowler, "and because of that we have asked that the meeting of the trustees be postponed until Thursday of next week. President Orr has ordered the postponement. In other respects our report is well in hand, but these Hamilton accounts are regarded as being of such great importance that we desire to go over and digest them thoroughly before making our report."

The last event, an 18-knot race, was a runaway for George Gingrass' 35, which finished 10 minutes ahead of the Comet.

GOVERNOR PATTISON'S CONDITION UNCHANGED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 30.—The last report from Governor Pattison's house tonight is that there has been no change in his condition. His physician tonight reiterated the statement made previously that there is nothing alarming in his condition and denied specifically reports that the governor is suffering from Bright's disease and uremic poisoning.

ROOT WILL NOT HEAD AMERICAN DELEGATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary Root will not head the American delegation to the third international American conference to be held at Rio Janeiro next July, as was at first supposed. He has decided, however, that he will hold to his promise made to the diplomatic representatives of the American nations here last fall and visit Rio Janeiro when the conference is in session.

The secretary does not think it would be prudent for him to absent himself from his own country for the period of time which will be occupied in its consideration. Besides he feels that to enter the conference as a delegate would confine him closely to Rio, while he desires to also visit Montevideo and Buenos Ayres and perhaps other cities of South America before returning to the United States. His trip will be made probably on one of the cruisers of Admiral Brownson's fleet.

Beware of the Physic You Take!

A physic often does more harm than good. It is not so much the physic, though, as it is the habit of physic you take.

Most preparations sold as "liver and stomach remedies" are dangerous. They do accomplish what they are advertised to do—move the bowels—but they entirely upset the stomach, and often produce complications.

These preparations in the form of tablets and pills usually gripe, cause nausea, and once you begin taking them a dangerous "physic habit" is formed. The bowels soon become unable to perform their functions without the unnatural aid of the "tablet," just like some people find it impossible to sleep without taking "sleeping powders."

A safe remedy for all stomach disorders is

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

It never creates a "habit." It does not operate on the stomach and bowels as most remedies do. The pepsin contained in it is a great digestor. It quickly relieves the distress of indigestion, without any of the dangers which come with the use of soda.

As a laxative it produces quick and pleasant results. No stomach is too weak to be benefited by it; no condition is beyond its power to cure. All druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at 50c and $1.00.

You risk nothing if it doesn't benefit you.

RATE BILL IS BEFORE HOUSE; TOWNSEND TALKS AT LENGTH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—According to special order, the house today took up the Hepburn railroad rate bill.

Mr. Hepburn observed that while no time had been set to close debate, it had been his idea that a vote might be taken on the bill one week from today.

In taking up the bill in committee of the whole, Mr. Vreeland (N.Y.) was selected to preside over the debate. Mr. Townsend (Mich.) at once began the opening speech on the bill.

Opening what promises to be a week's discussion on the railroad rate bill, Mr. Townsend of Michigan, addressed the house for more than an hour today, touching on and elucidating practically every phase of the rate making problem, and describing in detail the terms of the Hepburn bill. Regarding the question, as one of the most important ever before congress, Mr. Townsend advocated the bill as the correct remedy for the evils which exist and predicted that notwithstanding the protests of the railroads, greater prosperity would come to them under its provisions than otherwise. To substantiate this, he called attention to the tremendous strides of a year in the transportation business, and this in the face of the legislation which the last congress initiated and which the present congress is taking up in somewhat more strenuous form.

Like the bill of last year, which bore Mr. Townsend's name, he said the present one was the very least the people would accept; yet, the present bill confers wider powers and extends over every facility of transportation. However the present bill he believed, not only fully within the constitutional powers of congress but was simply an expression of the plain duty of congress to the American people. In brief, the bill attempts, he said, to place under the supervision of the interstate commerce commission, every form of interstate and foreign commerce and all instrumentalities of commercial transportation. The most serious complaints on the part of shippers, he said, have been directed against special services such as private cars, icing, elevator and terminal charges, and the like. Mr. Townsend believes the bill affords a complete remedy for all of these evils, as hereafter every such charge must be just and reasonable, and in case it is not, the committee is present to make it so. The evil of "the midnight rate" was described and the remedy set forth requiring 30 days notice of a change of rate. Briefly the "midnight rate" is a device whereby a large shipper notifies a head that on a certain date a large shipment will be made. On that date the published tariff is changed for a day, the shipment made at the lower rate and the tariff immediately raised. The main feature of the bill, bearing on the point about which the greatest controversy has been had and the one which Mr. Townsend believes lies at the foundation of the whole question, is that which gives the commission power upon complaint, and after full hearing, to substitute a reasonable maximum rate in place of one found to be unjust or unreasonable. Mr. Townsend went at length into the phase of the proposed legislation. It was the principle against which the weight of the opposition had been directed—he explained, and this proposition had been based alike on the questioned constitutionality, the impossibility for the commission to find a just rate and the injury such a finding would entail alike on business, the railroads, and the widowed and orphaned shareholders. In the broader view of the question and in the correct conclusion on any of these phases he saw but one answer—that to require the railroads to be just and reasonable could not harm any one, while it would benefit all.

As showing how deep were the fears of the railroad world, he stated, 7,500 miles of road had been built during the past year in the United States, and up to June 30 orders for more than $200,000,000 worth of railroad equipment had been placed. While the number of commissioners is increased by two and their salaries raised to $10,000 a year, Mr. Townsend expressed the belief that when the law was once established the duties of the commission would decrease rather than increase. The railroads, he suggested, would doubtless realize the justness of the law and fix their rates with reference to it. He realized fully the great power that was conferred upon the commission and believed the higher salary only an adequate compensation for such character needed. The wide publicity of railroad affairs required in the bill was, in his opinion, a potent factor for good. The provisions expediting the business of the commission and the cases in the courts growing out of the operation of the law he regarded as vital. The courts are to pass simply on the validity of the decisions, and the appeal to the supreme court will be on the question as to whether a given rate fixed by the commission is or is not confiscatory. While Mr. Townsend regarded the question as in no sense political, he expressed himself as pleased that the Republican party has taken it up. He arraigned the means employed by the opposition to rate legislation.

"For it has seemed," he said, "that a systematic effort has been made to discredit the administration in various matters in order to direct attention from this great question, and I have no doubt that delay will be caused wherever possible in the vain hope that something will yet happen to prevent final action. As one of the younger and most humble Republicans in the house, let me admonish my party associates in both houses that this question will not down nor will it much longer brook delay. The people have spoken, and every day to us their demand is more imperative. The day of grace may be passed and the unpardonable sin of trifling with duty may not be condoned even with deathbed repentance."

"Temporizing will bring nothing but disaster. Already we hear the rumblings of discontent, and socialism grows with dissatisfaction with every delay. Regulation of a public servant is not a departure from the principles of popular government, but disregard of righteous law and indifference to legal restrictions imposed to protect the people's rights, is more than socialism—it is anarchy; and were I a railroad agent instead of a people's representative I would hail the proposed legislation as a salvation to my master from the fate which an indignant people is sure to visit upon the corporations who believe that they are above and beyond the law, and seek to become a law unto themselves.

"Let the law pass," Mr. Townsend concluded, "and let the railroads heed its provisions and instead of retarding its execution, and in its operation, and then instead of being the objects of suspicion and hatred they will be regarded as the instruments of progress and prosperity. Rate legislation will enter into history, and its entry will not be marked with any business disturbances but rather it will indicate the beginning of an era of better feeling between the railroads and the people—an era of equal rights and opportunities under a just and impartial law."

"How did it happen that so many of the crew were on that life raft?" asked Inspector Whitney.

"As soon as the craft struck the water the crew took possession," said the witness.

"What kind of weather was it when you were picked up by the Topeka?"

"Nice weather. It was a trifle foggy, but there was no wind blowing. The waves did not have combers on them. I do not see why a boat could not have been lowered."

"Did you hear any reason given on the Topeka as to why no boats were lowered?"

"None."

Mr. Allison then went on and told of the condition of the vessel when he left. He stated that the hurricane deck was rising and falling with every wave that struck the ship. This caused many of those on board to leave, thinking that she was about to break up.

A. Willis another passenger, testified that the first boat was not lowered properly. He said that the cliff on which the Valencia was wrecked was so abrupt when he landed that he could not get to the life line, that was shot ashore.

LEAGUE OF LEAGUES OPPOSES GOVERNMENT

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—The convention of the League of Leagues at Imjira, Finland, though poorly attended, was characterized by undying opposition to the government. The members determined to abandon participation in the national assembly and to use the electoral campaign solely to spread the propaganda of the league for the convocation of a constituent assembly and to explain by all means, the true nature of the government's deceit in establishing the national assembly and to deprive the assembly of all authority in the eyes of the empire and the world at large.

UNIONISTS WANT TO OUST BALFOUR

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The small Unionist party remaining in parliament threatens to become torn by dissensions over the question of leadership. A deadset is being made against former Premier Balfour in the majority of the Unionist newspapers, those supporting Joseph Chamberlain publishing each day articles and letters calling on Mr. Balfour to retire from the leadership, while those still loyal to the older leader as plainly hint that he must recognize the uselessness of a negative policy, and as the Morning Post remarks, "abandon the sore atmosphere of social eminence and aloofness and come forward to his proper place as the leader of an enlightened and united democracy."

In short, Mr. Balfour's own supporters are hardly more complimentary than his opponents, and maintain that the only basis on which he can continue his leadership of the party is that he swallow the Chamberlain policy.

FREDERICK IS MADE KING OF DENMARK

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 30.—Frederick VIII. was proclaimed king of Denmark at noon today in Amalienborg square, in front of the palace.

The ceremony lasted only a few minutes. The premier, M. Christensen, appeared on the balcony of the palace and announced to the 50,000 persons assembled below, the death of King Christian IX., and the accession of his eldest son. The premier then called for cheers for King Frederick VIII. The new ruler of Denmark joined the premier on the balcony, and in a short speech declared that he would rule in accordance with the example set him by his father, and trusted that the same accord between the king and the nation would continue as heretofore. His majesty concluded with calling for cheers for the fatherland.

King Frederick received a warm-hearted greeting from the assembled crowd, whose cheers mingled enthusiastically with the national anthem.

Prior to the proclamation of his accession, King Frederick held a council of state at which the ministers tendered their resignations and were requested to retain their posts. Afterwards the new ruler, surrounded by the princes, received at Christian VII.'s palace the cabinet ministers, presidents of the rikesdag, the chief civil and military officials and the court dignitaries. Then came the important ceremony of the day. Promptly at noon the premier stepped out on the balcony of the palace and thrice shouted to the assembled throng:

"King Christian IX. is dead. Long live his majesty, King Frederick VIII." Sonorous hurrahs broke from the crowd in front of the palace and re-echoed down the streets opening on Amalienborg square, the flags on the public buildings were run up to the mastheads and a royal salute was thundered from the city's forts. The king shortly afterwards drove across the square to his own palace, greeted by hearty cheers.

King Frederick early in the afternoon announced his accession to the throne in a proclamation as follows:

"We, Frederick VIII., king of Denmark, by the grace of God, do hereby announce and make known that our beloved father, King Christian IX., was yesterday gathered to his father by a sudden, but calm and peaceful death. We have thereupon, in accordance with the law, ascended the throne. While thus assuming this high responsible position for which the Almighty has chosen us, it is our determination to maintain unswervingly the constitution of our country, and to preserve the rights and privileges of our whole people. If the people themselves will have the same confidence in their king which we have in our people, then will God [illegible] and blessing to all of us."

THREE KILLED IN TRAIN COLLISION

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 30.—Great Northern Oriental limited No. 1, westbound, and passenger train No. 2, eastbound, collided head on on a straight track one mile west of Columbia Falls, Mont., at 10:40 o'clock last night. Two firemen and two express messengers are dead. Their names are:

HARRISON,
LANGLEY, fireman.
WUISBACHER, express messenger.

Engineers Bandy and Interwechter, Conductor Quinn and Mail Clerk W. Arnold, were injured. The latter were taken to the hospital at Whitefish, Mont. None of the passengers was injured, and with the exception of the express cars and engines of each train, no serious damage was done to the trains. The express cars were so badly smashed that they were taken from the trains. Train No. 2 left Columbia Falls on its western trip at 7:10 p. m., and No. 1 was scheduled to leave there at 9:00 p. m. (western time).

General Superintendent I. T. Shade, who gave the foregoing information to the Associated Press, said he had received no information as to what caused the collision.

OIL PRODUCERS WANT MISSOURI TO STOP FIGHT

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 30.—Several oil producers from Indian Territory and [illegible] met here today to discuss the question of a market for their product. J. J. Curl, of Bartlesville, I. T., said before going into the conference:

"We want a market. We are up against it to get rid of our product. Either the Standard will take our oil, or we must provide more tankage. That will take time. We want to talk over the situation and decide some way out of the dilemma."

"Is the conference called for the purpose of sending a delegation to Governor Folk and Attorney General Hadley, to ask them to cease the fight on the Standard?" was asked.

"I have heard nothing about such a delegation," replied Mr. Curl.

H. L. Woods, of the Oil City Derrick, who is in the city said:

"I understand that as the Standard has ordered work stopped in Missouri on its Whiting pipe line, the producers see their chance of a market slipping away from them. The agitation against the Standard in Missouri is hurting the oil business in the territory and Kansas. I think the producers will send a committee to Governor Folk and Attorney General Hadley to ascertain if possible, what are the prospects of a cessation of hostilities."

Nature's Way Is Best.

The function strengthening and tissue building plan of treating chronic, lingering and obstinate cases of disease as pursued by Dr. Pierce, is following after Nature's plan of restoring health.

He uses natural remedies; that is extracts from native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in just the right proportions.

Used as ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot and Stone root, specially exert their influence in cases of lung, bronchial and throat troubles, and this "Discovery" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The above native roots also have the strongest possible endorsement from the leading medical writers, of all the several schools of practice, for the cure not only of the diseases named above but also for indigestion, torpor of liver, or biliousness, obstinate constipation, kidney and bladder troubles and catarrh, no matter where located.

You don't have to take Dr. Pierce's say-so alone as to this; what he claims for his "Discovery" is backed up by the writings of the most eminent men in the [illegible]. Request by postal card or letter, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a little book of extracts from eminent medical authorities endorsing the ingredients of his medicines, will bring a little book free that is worthy of your attention if needing a good, safe, reliable remedy of known composition for the cure of almost any old chronic, or lingering malady.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic.

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 cents in one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps.

COLORADO MAN IS NABBED BY PINKERTONS

FORT MORGAN, Colo., Jan. 30.—H. C. Hammond, for some time past solicitor and collector for the Fort Morgan Times, who disappeared last Saturday night, is under arrest at Chicago, charged with passing bogus checks to the extent of several hundred dollars here and leaving many unpaid bills with local merchants. Hammond was caught by the Pinkertons in the Windy city.

It is said that Hammond failed to turn in his collections to J. A. Ide, the owner of the paper, whose name has been forged to a number of checks, one of which the depot agent here accepted in return for transportation issued to Hammond and his wife to Chicago. Sheriff Brown has gone to Chicago for the prisoner.

JURY SECURED ILLEGALLY.

DENVER, Jan. 30.—Because it was shown that the new panel of 100 veniremen, called especially for the Schmidlap trial, was irregularly drawn, Judge S. L. Carpenter ordered the entire list thrown out of court today and instructed the sheriff to secure an open venire returnable tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The ruling of Judge Carpenter is of wide interest because it affects the system of jury drawing which has been followed for years, although illegally. The challenge, sustained by Judge Carpenter, was offered by Attorney A. M. Hilton for Mrs. Schmidlap on the ground that the sheriff had drawn the names from the box, while the law states he shall merely supervise the act of the clerk in drawing the names.

GRAND OPERA WORTH WHILE

LARGE AUDIENCES HEAR TANNHAUSER AND FAUST. SOME CRITICISMS ON THE PERFORMANCES.

By [illegible] W. [illegible]

A performance of Wagner's "Tannhauser" in the afternoon and Gounod's "Faust" in the evening marked the appearance here yesterday of Henry W. Savage's English Grand Opera company.

Both productions were greeted by large audiences, the evening one almost taxing the capacity of the house. Some people who may not know it in the east, but have seemingly grown down in the west, should learn that a stalled performance is [illegible] exception. Some of these late comers may have just called to [illegible] cards left they could have [illegible] around at the door.

Special interest attached to the afternoon rendition because of the appearance of Thomas D. [illegible] as Wolfram. Colorado Springs looked for the old favorite and was more than pleased by his parts. As a the whole cast, music, action and scenic effects were thoroughly satisfactory, considering the limitations of the [illegible]. Both works were presented in a [illegible] consistent manner.

Wagner wrote his four [illegible] in 1845. It shows glimpses of his later disregard for the old polyphonic styles. While there are strains of settled melody, as the "Song to the Evening Star" and the "Pilgrim Chorus," yet the intellectual and musical tendencies of the composer are freely asserted. This [illegible] is a test for the ear and musical sense of any soloist and chorus. It is to their credit to say the entire company had few slips, even in Tannhauser's [illegible] day. On one occasion the [illegible] dropped a choral part a whole tone below the pitch. If Mr. Savage would make his English company sing [illegible] man chorus with the [illegible] of foreigners, we would forgive all his claims for his company.

The orchestra under Conductor Schenck gave a creditable rendering of the now famous overture. The tempo before the Venusberg motif was decidedly retarded and the men played rather indifferently until the latter part, when the ending was made strong and effective.

Miss Rita Newman was the star of the afternoon. She has a magnificent voice and splendid dramatic ability. Her interpretations from the opening of the second act, with its exultation, also retrospect, and later the deep grief mingled with Elizabeth's hope, were finely done. Miss Crawford and Miss Holmes were good; the former especially in action. Mr. Macfennan grew in favor and merit to the end of the work. His voice, always fine, was exceedingly pleasing, and in the final description of his pilgrimage to Rome he rose to great intensity of action, giving a thrilling ending to a difficult part.

Mr. Richards as Wolfram showed one of the best voices of the day, fresh, resonant, sympathetic and true. He was quiet and modest but always ready. Mr. Bennett was an impressive Landgrave, about seven feet long, and had an interesting voice.

The other men showed good voices and the ensembles chorus, quartets and septet were strong.

The evening performance with the simpler, flowing melodies of Gounod, went off with a graceful life and dash that was effective. Mr. Sheehan has one of the finest tenor voices, in evenness, purity and sweetness of tone, given to man.

Mr. Cranston made a splendid Mephistopheles, with a rich full voice, and one need not revert to the De Reskes to have enjoyed their parts.

Valentine was good dramatically, and Siebel and Martha in every respect were successful as played by Misses Albright and Petre. Miss Easton as Marguerite grew in favor constantly to the end of the opera. She was the ideal maiden in simplicity and bearing, singing with great sweetness. Finally, in the tragic end, she was adequate to the severe requirements of the part.

THE STANDARD OIL FIGHT.

IT IS EVIDENT that the Standard Oil Company, powerful as it is, does not intend to fight its battle with the state of Missouri alone. And its latest move also goes to show again how completely the producer is at the mercy of the Oil Trust. The Standard now sees a way to make the small fry bear the burden of the Missouri trouble if things come to the worst, and it has set the machinery in motion. Incidentally, it evidently hopes that the forced intervention in its behalf on the part of the producer will induce Attorney-General Hadley to "call off his dogs" and not press the investigation of the company's methods of doing business in Missouri.

This is the Standard's new weapon. It has issued an order that hereafter only one-third of the mid-continent fields' output will be bought, "owing to the fact that the Standard will be prevented from continuing as a buyer and transporter of petroleum through the proceedings of Attorney Hadley of Missouri." This announcement has done just what the heads of the Standard Oil Company evidently intended that it should do. It has aroused the producers of the Bartlesville, Indian Territory, fields to action, and already they are organizing to send a delegation to consult the company's general agent at Kansas City. This, also, will be in line with what the Standard wants. The Kansas City agent will doubtless say that if the company is not allowed to transport oil through its pipe lines across the state of Missouri, there will be no way to handle the Indian Territory output, and the producers, therefore, may as well go out of the business. He will probably add that the whole matter lies with Attorney-General Hadley, and then he will chuckle as he sees the committee hustle off on the first train to call on Mr. Hadley. This, of course, is what the committee will do, and it will ask Mr. Hadley if he intends to kill the producers' business by preventing the Standard from transporting oil across Missouri. The committee will tell him that if the Standard is ousted from Missouri it will shut off their market for the petroleum products of the Bartlesville field, because the pipe line from the mid-continent fields runs through Missouri. Mr. Hadley, not wishing to cripple the helpless producers, will, of course, be puzzled, and the Standard, not caring who is crippled just so it escapes, will gloat at the successful issue of its plot.

What other interpretation could be put on the Standard's action? The Missouri fight is far from being at an end and no one knows, laying the merits of the case aside and considering the power of the Standard's money, how it will result. And yet the Standard has seen the handwriting on the wall and has already made the announcement that it will hereafter take but one-third of the Bartlesville production, "because of Missouri's action."

AN OCEAN GRAVEYARD.

A TOTAL of fifty-eight wrecks, costing the appalling total of 834 lives, is the record for forty years of the west coast of Vancouver Island. The Valencia disaster of last week, in which, according to the latest estimates, 117 lives were lost, and the sinking of the fishing schooner Ella G. last Sunday, which carried six men down with it, are the latest horrors of that treacherous coast.

These two wrecks, coming but six days apart and swelling Vancouver's death roll so enormously, have occasioned a great amount of criticism, not only against the British Columbia government but against the United States as well. Shipping men condemn the signal service maintained along this coast. They maintain, and doubtless with good reason, that both governments are well-nigh criminally negligent of their shipping interests. They point out that if suitable tugs, properly equipped with life-saving apparatus, had been stationed near the mouth of the Strait of Juan de Fuca for just such emergencies, within touch of the telegraph wires and cables, the majority of the men, women and children on board the Valencia, and possibly all of them, could have been saved. As it was, the only survivors were strong men who were able to leave the wrecked vessel in life boats or on rafts and weather the storm until relief boats arrived. As for the weaker men and the women and children, their fate was sealed when the Valencia went upon the rocks, and they could do nothing but await certain death upon the breaking up of the vessel.

The stretch of coast marked by these almost three score wrecks is British territory, and among the vessels lost was one British warship. Ordinarily such a record would prompt the establishment of adequate service to lessen the dangers besetting ships in those waters. But this does not seem to have been done, and the number of disasters in that region is increasing rather than diminishing. It is a trite but true saying that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, but in this case the prevention is now out of the question and the cure, if it comes, will be the result of a lesson learned at the expense of nearly 1,000 human lives. The great sacrifice of life and property will continue if something is not done, and it is certainly incumbent upon the British Columbia government or the United States Government, or both, to prevent, so far as possible, future disasters along the Vancouver coast. This would seem to be the duty, first of British Columbia. But if that government should fail to do its duty and do it promptly, the United States should see to it that the existing dangers are lessened, since our vessels form the bulk of the maritime commerce in that region.

THE SPIDER AND THE FLY.

COLONEL W. F. MANN, editor of Town Topics, who has been arrested at the instigation of District Attorney Jerome for perjury in his testimony in the recent criminal libel suit brought by him against Editor Hapgood of Collier's, is getting deeper and deeper in trouble. In Jerome's charge against Mann two more interesting phases of the big New York scandal are presented. The first is that the libel proceeding has acted as a boomerang, and the ruthless and unscrupulous editor of Town Topics is to get a dose of his own medicine. The second is that Mann, lying in wait in his web for an opportunity to extort money unlawfully from men of prominence by threats of exposing certain of their private affairs, as a spider waits for the unsuspecting fly, has been caught napping by the artful district attorney, into whose hand he has unwittingly played from the beginning.

District Attorney Jerome set his trap and Mann walked right into it. It was brought out in the evidence in the Hapgood libel case that Jerome, desiring to get a lever under Town Topics, personally solicited the editorial in Collier's which provoked the subsequent criminal libel action. In fact he did even more than this. Jerome voluntarily stated during the taking of testimony in the Hapgood case, that he himself rewrote certain parts of the editorial in question in order to be more certain of provoking criminal action. He knew his ground and played his part well, as is proven by the fact that Mann took the bait as soon as it was offered. This is just what Jerome wanted and things could not have worked out nicer. He had long been trying to get the editor of the "most degraded paper in the United States" to lay himself open to attack and his success is attested by the events which have followed the publication of the editorial. Jerome knew that Town Topics was so debased that almost anything could be said against it with impunity. That he was right has already been shown.

It is too early to discuss the charges of perjury against Editor Mann for the case is yet to be tried, but it is safe to assume that District Attorney Jerome knows his ground as well this time as he did when he set his trap for the notorious blackmailer. Therefore it would not be surprising to see the charge substantiated, and it would be even less surprising to see Mann called before the bar of justice on many other counts.

The popularity of President Roosevelt in the West is hardly likely to be increased by his attitude in the Arizona-New Mexico statehood matter. There are a good many Missourians in the West, and they always like to be shown. Just now they want the President to show them a better reason for forcing these two territories into the Union as one state than a mere desire to get a troublesome question out of the way.

Poor people who aspire to riches should take warning from the fate of the Spanish cook who recently became insane shortly after winning a lottery prize of one million dollars. Still, human nature is such a peculiar thing that there are millions of people who would gladly assume the risk.

It is proposed to issue a two-dollar silver coin to commemorate the Jamestown exposition. Great scheme, that. Such a coin would possess utility as well as beauty and sentiment. It could be used as a dinner plate, or a stove lid, or, mounted on three legs, it would make a very serviceable center table.

Grover Cleveland is said to be tired of his $12,000 job of referee for the insurance companies. Mr. Cleveland is perfectly willing to be roasted by the women's clubs, but when it comes to being buffeted about by three rival insurance concerns, even the stolid and impassive "stuffed prophet" objects.

The longer France delays action the more certain Castro becomes that the whole affair is a bluff. The next thing to be expected from the pugnacious president is a proclamation announcing that the insolent enemy is afraid to tackle his heroic army and navy.

Lincoln Steffens says the Senate believes itself to be the savior of the Republic. If this is true, the Senate ought to be placed under the care of a competent corps of alienists. Such an hallucination might lead to trouble.

The announcement that the theatrical trust has decided to drop Shakespeare for a while is the first intimation the public has had that the theatrical trust had ever taken up Shakespeare.

It is said that Mr. Shonts is willing to give up his railroad job "if the Senate desires it." It ought not to be necessary for him to waste much time finding out the Senate's wishes.

The ease with which Speaker Cannon quelled the insurrection in the House arouses the suspicion that he has been in correspondence with Count Witte.

Mr. Bryan is now a Filipino Datto, but of course, being a true Jeffersonian Democrat, he will not attempt to use his titles of nobility in this country.

Since the slight unpleasantness of last week the House insurgents have decided that it is never wise to monkey with a loaded Cannon.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

Fifty-One Hundred Years Ago Today

Friday, 31st January, 1806.—Took my clothes to the Indian's lodge to dress, and was received very coolly, not by giving the man a dram, drunked, and his wife a little salt. I received from them directions for my route. Passed the lake or morass and opened on meadows through which the Mississippi winds. As course for nearly eleven miles. Took a straight course through them to the head, when I fell in with the river, made a turn of about two miles and regained it. Passed a fork which I supposed to be Lake Winnipic, making the course N. W., the branch we took was on Leech lake branch, course S. W. and W. Pass in a very large meadow or prairie, course west, the Mississippi was here only fifty yards wide. Encamped about one mile below the traverse of the meadow. Saw a very large animal, which from its leaps, I supposed to have been a panther, but if it was one, it was twice as large as those on the lower Mississippi. He evinced much disposition to approach. I lay down (Miller being in the rear) in order to entice him to come near, but he would not. The night was remarkably cold. Some spirits which I had in a small keg congealed in the consistence of honey.

REPORTORIAL HONESTY.

The story originating in Chicago to the effect that a newspaper reporter had been bribed to color the news of the investigation of the beef packers is not convincing. But if the story is true it demonstrates that no care is the breach of trust discovered among the men who write for newspapers that it is considered an important item to chronicle. There is, however, grave doubt that any bribery was intended or understood in the case, according to the statement made public by authority of the president.

Probably no class of men habitually do more for other people and less for themselves than newspaper reporters, and certainly there are few positions of trust where the opportunities for "grafting" are more frequent. The average reporter in his daily work is constantly exposed to the man, company, corporation or "interest" that either wants something put into the paper or something kept out of it. The politician who knows that the publication of a certain legitimate news item may ruin his chances for office is usually desperate enough to make a tempting proposition to the reporter who has the "story." A promoter whose schemes demand newspaper indorsement will not shy at a few hundred dollars if by that means he can secure the desired publicity. Not infrequently the father of a wayward son offers a reporter money to suppress the scandal, not knowing that this is the surest way to have it published. A simple appeal to the reporter's sympathies may win, and it often does, but money will arouse his indignation.

Another thing that makes the Chicago story of doubtful accuracy is the nature of the alleged bribe. The work was "coarse." It would have done well enough, perhaps, for a state legislator or an alderman, but it was too bald a bait for a keen and alert newspaper man. If the reporter had been dishonest enough to take a bribe he would have covered his tracks and not have told other people about it. It is so unusual for anyone to express appreciation for what a reporter does for him it is small wonder that when a Chicago lawyer gave one a Christmas present there should have been shouts of "graft." When the average man wants something from a reporter he does not hesitate to ask for it, and after the favor is granted the recipient promptly forgets all about it. Sometimes—and it is a bright oasis in the reporter's life—a man who has been done a favor will say "thank you." And that is all the reporter expects or will take. As a class reporters are high-minded, honorable and generous. They sometimes feel the pinch of pecuniary necessity, yet they pride themselves upon the honesty of their craft. The few exceptions lose standing and drift into other lines when they are found out. This is another reason against the probability of the Chicago reporter jeopardizing his position and his professional reputation by the acceptance of a bribe.—Kansas City Journal.

WHICH IS THE HAPPIER.

Which is the happier, a man with ten daughters, or the man with $100,000? The man with ten daughters, of course, he has all the daughters he wants, while the man with the dollars wants a million more and wants it bad. Fort Morgan Times.

GREAT FUTURE FOR LA PLATA MINES.

Durangoites who have visited eastern and northern points in Colorado, and many who have gone farther east, come back telling us that there is much inquiry and interest manifested in the mines of the La Plata district, and we may confidently look for much new capital to be invested in the district during the present year. A number of deals are pending now for quite extensive developments in the district. It is quite certain that the Comstock mines will soon resume operation, and with the May Day production, the Durango Girl working and a half-dozen other good properties under operation, the spring shipments should be largely increased.—Durango Evening Herald.

DEMOCRATS INCONSISTENT.

The Democratic leaders of Denver have petitioned the governor of the state to pardon two of the Democratic ballot box stuffers, who, after considerable expense, the state succeeded in sending to the penitentiary about six months ago. These are the same Democratic leaders who, with the help of a Democratic Voters' League and the Democratic state editors, are now demanding a primary law, that the ballot may be purified. Colorado needs a good primary law—there is no doubt about it—but Colorado does not want one furnished by a party that bears an appeal for pure elections in one hand and a petition for the pardon of its own election crooks in the other.—The Wray Rattler.

GNATS AND THE OX.

This assault on the president is about as irritating as a swarm of gnats attacking an ox on a July day.—New York Commercial.

NEED OF THE JEWISH ELEMENT.

The Jew was for ages the trustee for the human race of the fundamental idea of monotheism, the most exalted conception of the human mind. In later ages, he has taught the world lessons of patience, endurance, thrift, enterprise. In our own country he has received the treatment of a man, and he has been not only a useful, but a public-spirited citizen. It is by no means certain that the greatest objection in Zionism is not its impracticability, but the need of a Jewish element throughout Christendom.—Philadelphia Record.

AFFAIRS AT ANNAPOLIS.

"But the whole foolish calves' play means that a body of young men, being educated for service in which implicit obedience to orders and a high sense of honor are supposed to be essential, are systematically disobeying orders and breaking the spirit, if not the letter, of their solemnly given words of honor. True, it may be held that these are mere boyish pranks, but the bad effect of them upon the man, of whom as the proverb has it, the boy is the father, is shown by the fact that hardly any of the army or navy officers have expressed any serious condemnation of this systematic betrayal of honor and disobedience of orders proved against a considerable proportion of the cadets.—New York American.

Burning of Moscow

How Napoleon Was Vanquished in the Russian Capital.

(By J. T. Headley.)

AT length Moscow, with its domes and towers and palaces, appeared in sight, and Napoleon, who had joined the advanced guard, gazed long and thoughtfully—as that part of his history went forward, and entered the gates with his splendid cavalry, but as he passed through the streets he was struck by the solitude that surrounded him. Nothing was heard but the heavy tramp of his squadrons as he passed along for a deserted and abandoned city was the meager prize for which such unparalleled efforts had been made. As night drew its curtain over the splendid capital, Napoleon entered the gates, and immediately appointed Mortier governor. In his directions he commanded him to abstain from all pillage. "For this," said he, "you shall be answerable with your life. Defend Moscow against all, whether friend or foe."

The bright moon rose over the mighty city, flipping with silver the domes of more than two hundred churches, and pouring a flood of light over a thousand palaces and the dwellings of 300,000 inhabitants. The weary army sunk to rest, but there was no sleep for Mortier's eyes. Not the gorgeous and variegated palaces and their rich ornaments, nor the parks and gardens and Oriental magnificence that everywhere surrounded him, kept him wakeful, but the ominous foreboding that some dire calamity was hanging over the silent capital.

When he entered it, scarcely a living soul met his gaze as he looked down the long streets; and when he broke open the buildings, he found parlors and bedrooms, and chambers, all furnished and in order, but no occupants. This sudden abandonment of their homes betokened some secret purpose yet to be fulfilled. The midnight moon was settling over the city, when the cry of "Fire!" reached the ears of Mortier; and the first light over Napoleon's faltering empire was kindled, and that most wondrous scene of modern times commenced—the burning of Moscow.

Mortier, as governor of the city, immediately issued his orders, and was putting forth every exertion, when at daylight Napoleon hastened to him. Affecting to disbelieve the reports that the inhabitants were firing their own city, he put more rigid commands on Mortier to keep the soldiers from the work of destruction. The marshal simply pointed to some iron-covered houses that had not yet been opened, from every crevice of which smoke was issuing like steam from the sides of a pent-up volcano. Sad and thoughtful, Napoleon turned toward the Kremlin, the ancient palace of the czars, whose huge structure rose high above the surrounding edifices.

In the morning, Mortier, by great exertions, was enabled to subdue the fire. But the next night, September 15, 1812, at midnight, the sentinels on watch upon the lofty Kremlin saw below them the flames bursting through the houses and palaces, and the cry of "Fire! Fire!" passed through the city. The dread scene was now fairly opened. Fiery balloons were seen dropping from the air and lighting on the houses; dull explosions were heard on every side from the shut-up dwellings, and the next moment light burst forth, and the flames were raging through the apartments.

All was uproar and confusion. The serene air and moonlight of the night before had given way to driving clouds and a wild tempest, that swept like the roar of the sea over the city. Flames arose on every side, blazing and crackling in the storm; while clouds of smoke and sparks in an incessant shower went driving toward the Kremlin. The clouds themselves seemed turned into fire, rolling wrath over devoted Moscow. Mortier, crushed with the responsibility thrown upon his shoulders, moved with his young guard amid this desolation, blowing up the houses and facing the tempest and the flames, struggling nobly to arrest the conflagration.

He hastened from place to place amid the ruin, his face blackened with smoke, and his hair and eyebrows singed with the fierce heat. At length the day dawned—a day of tempest and flame—and Mortier, who had strained every nerve for thirty-six hours, [illegible] and dropped down from fatigue. The manly form and stalwart arm that had so often carried death into the ranks of the enemy, at length gave way, and the gloomy marshal lay and panted in utter exhaustion. But the night of tempest had been succeeded by a day of tempest; and when night again enveloped the city, it was one broad flame, waving to and fro in the blast.

The wind had increased to a perfect hurricane, and shifted from quarter to quarter, as if on purpose to swell the sea of fire and extinguish the last hope. The fire was approaching the Kremlin, and already the roar of the flames and crash of falling houses, and the crackling of burning timbers, were borne to the ears of the startled emperor. He arose and walked to and fro, stopping convulsively and gazing on the terrific scene. Murat, Eugene and Berthier rushed into his presence, and on their knees besought him to flee, but he still clung to that haughty palace as if it were his empire.

But at length the shout, "The Kremlin is on fire!" was heard above the roar of the conflagration, and Napoleon reluctantly consented to leave. He descended into the streets with his staff, and looked about for a way of egress, but the flames blocked every passage. At length they discovered a postern gate, leading to the Moskwa, and entered it, but they had entered still further into the danger. As Napoleon cast his eye round the open space, girdled and arched with fire, smoke and cinders, he saw one single street yet open, but all on fire. Into this he rushed, and amid the crash of falling houses and raging of the flames, over burning ruins, through clouds of rolling smoke, and between walls of fire, he pressed on; and, at length, half suffocated, emerged in safety from the blazing city, and took up his quarters in the Imperial palace of Petrousky, nearly three miles distant.

Mortier, relieved from his anxiety for the emperor, redoubled his efforts to arrest the conflagration. His men, cheerfully rushed into every danger. Breathing nothing but smoke and ashes, canopied by flame and smoke, and cinders, surrounded by walls of fire, that rocked to and fro, and fell with a crash amid the blazing ruins, carrying down with them redhot roofs of iron; he struggled against an enemy that no boldness could awe or courage overcome. Those brave troops had heard the tramp of thousands of cavalry sweeping to battle without fear; but now they stood in still terror before the march of the conflagration, under whose burning footsteps was heard the incessant crash of falling houses, and palaces, and churches. The continuous roar of the raging hurricane, mingled with that of the flames, was more terrible than the thunder of artillery; and before this new foe, in the midst of this battle of the elements, the awe-struck army stood powerless and affrighted.

When light again descended on the city, it presented a spectacle, the like of which was never seen before, and which baffles all description. The streets were streets of fire, the heavens a canopy of fire, and the entire body of the city a mass of fire, fed by a hurricane that sped the blazing fragments in a constant stream through the air. Incessant explosions, from the blowing up of stores of oil, and tar, and spirits, shook the very foundations of the city, and sent vast volumes of smoke rolling furiously toward the sky. Huge sheets of canvas on fire came floating like messengers of death through the flames; the towers and domes of the churches and palaces glowing with a redhot heat over the wild sea below, then tottering a moment on their bases, were hurled by the tempest into the common ruin.

Thousands of wretches, before unseen, were driven by the heat from the cellars and hovels, and stalked in an incessant throng through the streets. Children were seen carrying their parents; the strong the weak; while thousands more were staggering under the loads of plunder they had snatched from the flames. This, too, would frequently take fire in the falling shower, and the miserable creatures would be compelled to drop it and flee for their lives. O, it was a scene of woe and fear inconceivable and indescribable. A mighty and closely packed city of houses, and churches, and palaces, wrapped from limit to limit in flames, which are fed by a whirling hurricane, is a sight this world will seldom see.

But this was within the city. To Napoleon, without, the spectacle was still more sublime and terrific. When the flames had overcome all obstacles and had wrapped everything in red mantle, that great city looked like a sea of rolling fire, swept by a tempest that drove it into billows. Huge domes and towers, throwing off sparks like blazing firebrands, now disappeared in their maddening flow, as they rushed and broke high over their tops, scattering their spray of fire against the clouds. The heavens themselves seemed to have caught the conflagration, and the angry masses that swept it rolled over a bosom of fire.

Columns of flame would rise and sink along the surface of this sea, and huge volumes of black smoke suddenly shoot into the air, as if volcanoes were working below. The black form of the Kremlin alone towered above the chaos, now wrapped in flame and smoke, again emerging into view, standing amid the scene of desolation and terror, like Virtue in the midst of a burning world, enveloped but unscathed by the devouring elements. Napoleon stood and gazed on the scene in silent awe. Though nearly three miles distant, the windows and walls of his apartment were so hot that he could scarcely bear his hand against them. Said he, years afterwards:

"It was the spectacle of a sea and billows of fire, a sky and clouds of flame, mountains of red rolling flames, like immense waves of the sea, alternately bursting forth and elevating themselves to skies of flame below. Of it was the most grand, the most sublime, the most terrific sight the world ever beheld!"

INJUSTICE TO ARIZONA.

The vote on the statehood bill revealed the fact that of the sixty-five Republican congressmen who voted against the proposition in the conference twenty-two have been induced to change their views. The inducements were the bulldozing threats of Speaker Cannon and a liberal use of public patronage by the president. The administration forces professed great indignation at the rumors of the use of money by a railway and mining lobby against the bill—although not a scintilla of evidence has been found to support the charge; but it would make the proverbially acute Philadelphia lawyer to determine in what respect bribery by a lobby is worse than bulldozing and the persuasive influences of the "pork barrel" by high officials who hold the whip hand over the congressmen. The representatives at least had the privilege of refusing the lobby's money, but they knew, or had much reason to fear, that their political fate was sealed, and that their constituents' interests would suffer if they rejected the administration's immaculate emollients.

As a matter of fact, diligent inquiry by newspaper correspondents failed to discover over half a dozen congressmen who were in favor of joint statehood for Arizona and New Mexico. In private many of them freely expressed the opinion that it would be an outrage to merge the two territories against the wishes of their people. But they declared that it meant political ruin to them to oppose the wishes of Speaker Cannon, backed by the administration. Under the rules of the house the speaker virtually holds the fate of every private bill in the hollow of his hand, and without his favor no congressman can hope to do anything for his constituents. The man who refuses to surrender his convictions at the speaker's behest is doomed to be ignored when he seeks to be recognized by the chair, and the committee places that knew him once will known him no more in future. Thus a majority of the congressmen were forced to violate their convictions and to vote for a bill which denies the wishes and outrages the sense of justice of the people of Arizona.

At best this undermining of the independence of congress is a blow to representative government which cannot commend itself to a free people. And the outrage upon the helpless people of Arizona may yet prove a curse, and a blot upon the fame of its authors.—Kansas City Journal.

Home Baking with ROYAL Baking Powder

The United States Agricultural Department has issued (and circulates free) a valuable report showing the results of scientific experiments made by and under the direction of the Department, which show the great saving from baking at home, with cost of buying at the bakers. All breads, cake, biscuit, crackers, etc., are very much better, more delicious and wholesome when made at home with Royal Baking Powder.

A Misunderstood Profession

The reporters' lead Hartley Davis's thrilling fact-story "Reporters of Today" in Everybody's for February.

Feeney—of the Boston Herald—after three months of incessant labor, procured the pardon of two men who had been in prison thirteen years for a murder they never committed.

He then quietly withdrew from the matter and left the credit for somebody else.

This is magnificent; but not unusual among these brave, generous, indefatigable, and heroic workers.

FOOD— NOT MEDICINE.

If all the treatments for consumption were put in book form it would make a pretty big library. But after all there has been little improvement over the old treatment of rest, fresh air, sunshine, plain wholesome food and Scott's Emulsion. The latter supplies nourishment that cannot be secured in any other way, and after all, nourishment is what the consumptive needs first.

A gain in weight, however slight, is a long step toward improvement. If there is the least thing to build on Scott's Emulsion will enable the patient to make that gain. People have gained a pound in weight from a bottle of Scott's Emulsion—it's an exception when they don't.

We have seen Scott's Emulsion take hold of a patient and bring about a change for the better inside of a week. It always helps even the most stubborn cases.

TOM HAZLITT GETS REWARD OF $500 OFFERED BY ELKS

At a meeting of Colorado Springs lodge, B. P. O. E. last night it was unanimously voted to give the reward of $500, offered by the lodge for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderers of Frank L. Scott, to Thomas A. Hazlitt. The question of who deserved the reward was thoroughly investigated by a committee consisting of Allen T. Gunnell, W. P. Kinney and Thomas F. Burns, and the committee reported last night that Mr. Hazlitt had given the information leading to the arrest of Charles Essick and Leslie Francisco, the convicted murderers. The lodge immediately voted to give Mr. Hazlitt the reward and he will be given a check for $500 today.

The question of who gets the $1,000 reward offered by the city has not been decided. Mr. Hazlitt and R. Cochran have both filed claims with the city for the reward and it now lies with the city council to decide to whom it shall go. Mayor Henry C. Hall said last night that he did not know when the council would take the matter under consideration.

GOVERNMENT WAR RELICS

COLLECTION FROM NATIONAL MUSEUM AT WASHINGTON TO BE BROUGHT HERE FOR PIKE CENTENNIAL.

An extensive collection of war relics, including guns, flags, etc., from the United States museum at Washington, D. C., is to be a feature of the Pike's Peak centennial celebration at Colorado Springs in September. In a letter received by Henry Russell Wray yesterday, Representative Franklin E. Brooks stated that he had secured the consent of Secretary of War Bonaparte to bring a large part of the government museum to Colorado Springs on condition that the relics be stored in a fireproof building. The United States museum at Washington is one of the most valuable in the world and the fact that a large portion of it will be in Colorado Springs in September will be one of the best attractions which the Centennial could possibly have. Mr. Brooks suggested that the relics could be stored in either the court house or the city hall and added that he thought the best arrangement would be to have the cases of relics placed along the corridors of the court house. This plan will probably be adopted by the Pike Monument association.

Mr. Brooks suggested that the association take immediate action on the leasing and securing of grounds for the army maneuvers. He thinks that this should be done in order that the war department may be assured that the soldiers sent here will have adequate room for camping and drilling. The Pike association will get to work immediately and will probably lease several acres in the vicinity of Broadmoor.

According to Mr. Brooks, it will take from a month to six weeks to complete the dies and designs for the proposed medallions, which the government will have struck off at the Denver mint at a cost of $10,000. He says that a similar relief to that on the silver dollar will be used for the medallions. Mr. Brooks added that he had had another conference with President Roosevelt in regard to the Centennial celebration and that the president expressed great interest in the event and has promised to do all in his power to make it a successful national celebration.

MURDERERS SENTENCED

LESLIE FRANCISCO AND CHAS. ESSICK TO SPEND THEIR LIVES IN STATE PENITENTIARY.

Leslie Francisco and Charles Essick, who were found guilty in the district court last Thursday of the murder of Frank L. Scott, were taken before the bar of the court yesterday afternoon for sentence.

There were but few people present aside from the regular court officers. Assistant District Attorney J. W. Sheafor, representing the state, Attorney Baker representing Essick, and Attorney Dolph, representing Francisco, were present when Judge R. E. Lewis commanded the two defendants to stand up. After briefly reviewing the evidence Judge Lewis said that he concurred in the verdict of the jury and in compliance with the recommendation made in the verdict the sentence of the court was that the defendants be taken from the bar of the court to the state penitentiary at Canon City, there to be imprisoned at hard labor for the remainder of their natural lives. The court directed the sheriff to carry out the order within five days.

The two prisoners received the sentence with the same nonchalance that they manifested throughout the trial. Sheriff Grimes will escort the two prisoners to Canon City today, leaving on the noon train. He will give the family of the boys an opportunity to talk with them during the forenoon.

THEFT OF STEAK LEADS TO ARREST OF COOK

Frank Speer, a cook, was caught while in the act of stealing meat from the store room of the Tucker restaurant. Supplies have been missed from the store room for several days and, about 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the cook went to the store room after supplies, he saw Speer dodge out with a large steak in his possession. Speer was chased down the alley but made his escape.

The theft was reported to the police and a description of the man was furnished to City Detective John Rowan. About 3 o'clock the detective located Speer at his home, 222 West Kiowa street, and placed him under arrest.

In the meantime E. T. Tucker had sworn to a complaint before Justice O. R. Dunnington charging Speer with larceny, and the prisoner was surrendered to Constable Gillingham upon a warrant issued by the justice. Speer was employed at Tucker's restaurant during the summer as assistant cook. The case was set for hearing on Thursday, and in default of $100 bond the prisoner was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

WORKED NICE BUNCO GAME

CONFIDENCE MAN IN ROLE OF MISSOURI FARMER "SHOWS" HOW TO GET SOMETHING FOR NOTHING.

The police department is looking for a smooth person, H. F. Barber, about 45 years of age, upon a charge of working a bunco game by means of which he secured some $40 in cash, entertainment for several days, and a nice warm overcoat to protect him from the wintry blasts. J. H. Peck of Kansas City is out the cash and a local real estate dealer is minus the overcoat and various sums paid out for entertainment.

It appears that Mr. Peck is the owner of 20,000 acres of land between Ramah and Burlington, and in order to look after these extensive landed interests he is in the habit of making trips every few weeks from Kansas City to Colorado Springs. Mr. Barber, in some manner, became acquainted with the fact that Mr. Peck had large interests in eastern Colorado, and, posing as a farmer from Missouri, entered into negotiations for the purchase of a large tract on the basis of $6 per acre.

On or about January 18, Mr. Barber and Mr. Peck met by appointment at Limon Junction for the purpose of inspecting the land.

Barber is about five feet nine inches in height, weight about 150 pounds, dark complexion, wore long black hair and had about five weeks' growth of whiskers. To complete his make-up, he wore overshoes which buttoned up around the bottom of his trousers. He was without an overcoat when he arrived at Limon Junction, but explained this fact by saying that he had stopped off at Goodland to look at some property, and the next train being late, he had gone to the hotel, leaving his coat there while he strolled around the town. While on the stroll he saw the westbound train pull in and, as he did not desire to break the appointment with Mr. Peck, he caught the train without returning to the hotel. He would wire for his overcoat to be sent to Colorado Springs. He referred Mr. Peck and the local real estate men to his bank in St. Joseph, Mo., as [illegible] wire as to his standing, but this was considered unnecessary, so well did he carry out the part of a Missouri farmer.

The party arrived in this city on January 21 and everything was done to impress Barber with the desirability of investing in eastern Colorado. He was entertained at the hotels, at the clubs, at the theater, and drives and automobile rides during the daytime assisted in impressing the visitor.

He could not be induced to invest more than $20,000, but he explained that his brother would be likely to invest a similar sum upon his recommendation. So a telegram was written out, addressed to the brother, and a day or so later Barber produced what purported to be a reply saying that his brother would go in on the deal, making the total sum involved $40,000. Meanwhile Barber had made various small loans, lived on the fat of the land, secured a good overcoat and then—disappeared.

ROSWELL PEOPLE TO GET RELIEF

RAILROAD AND COUNTY OFFICIALS REACH AN AGREEMENT AS TO REBUILDING BRIDGE.

The people of Roswell will soon have ample facilities for crossing the Rock Island cut and the operation of electric cars to the Roswell race track will again be resumed if the plans agreed upon yesterday are carried out. The county commissioners were in consultation with the officials of the Rock Island system yesterday with a view of taking [illegible] steps to reopen the crossing on Tejon street. The outcome of the conference was that the railroad agreed to build the bridge across its right of way and up to the north line of Rock Island property, and the county commissioners agreed to finish the bridge from the north side of the right of way to the county road. The railroad is now building a bridge at Nevada avenue, and as soon as this work is completed the force of bridge builders will begin on the Tejon street crossing.

PLAN TO CONSOLIDATE TWO PYTHIAN LODGES

At the regular meeting of Syracuse lodge No. 111, Knights of Pythias, February 8, a plan to consolidate with Myrtle lodge No. 31, K. of P., will be acted upon. If the two lodges are merged, they will go under the name of Myrtle lodge. It is said that the consolidation will be made because of the fact that Syracuse lodge has been weakened in a measure by a number of its members joining the new K. P. lodge, Sublime No. 123.

PHILIPPINE VETERANS PLAN ANNUAL REUNION

The annual state camp of the Society of the Army of the Philippines will be held in this city next Sunday, and will be strictly a business meeting. In addition to considerable routine business the state camp will select the time and place for holding the next annual reunion of Philippine veterans. Delegates will be present from every camp in the state and all members of Camp Lawton, as well as visiting members, are invited to be present.

The Handsomest Flower Is Not the Sweetest

Neither is the best looking tea always the sweetest drinking.

Teas are not infrequently made up, that is, forced to look pretty to please the eye, but an undue amount of labor expended upon tea leaves to make them look well injures the drinking qualities.

Our first consideration when purchasing teas is drinking quality; our second, good looks, for we fully realize that to win and hold trade our teas must please our customers' sense of taste, however well they may look to the eye.

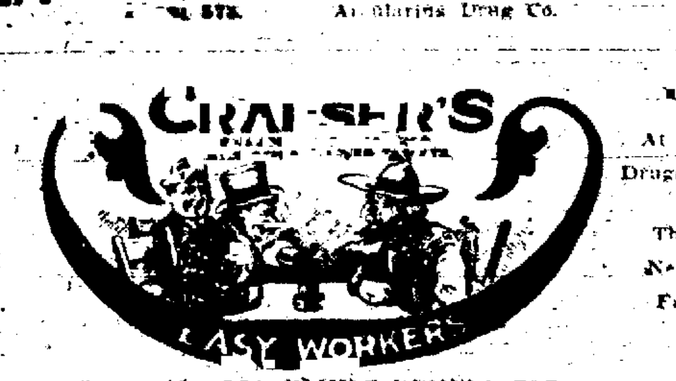

Our stock comprises the teas of all tea-growing countries, but we especially recommend our A1 Brand of Ceylon at 50 cts. a pound.

Strong efforts are being made in Great Britain and Ireland to keep the men on the farms. Profit-sharing is the favorite English plan, and the laborers at Scotney castle, where this is practised, each received over $13 as their share of profits last year. In Ireland, over 900 co-operative farming societies have been formed, having an average of a hundred members each. They raised crops to the value of $7,250,000 last year.

DIRECTORS DECLARE DIVIDEND

UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION IN FLOURISHING CONDITION—HUGHITT SUCCEEDS FIELD.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The directors of the United States Steel corporation, at their meeting today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock. Marvin Hughitt of Chicago was elected a director to succeed the late Marshall Field.

Net earnings for the quarter ending December 31 were $35,729,653, an increase of $12,818,854, as compared with the same quarter a year ago. Unfilled orders on hand December 31 were 7,605,086 tons, an increase of 2,909,952. The unfilled orders on December 31 broke all records of the corporation.

With the quarterly figures at hand it is shown that the net earnings for the year are approximately $119,800,000, compared with $133,308,763 in 1902 and $73,176,521 in 1904, the corporation's best and poorest years.

Following the usual deductions, including the dividend on the preferred stock for the last quarter, the surplus for the quarter is placed at $18,416,563. The surplus for the corresponding quarter of 1904 was $5,853,358.

The sum of $9,000,000 was set aside from the quarter just ended on account of expenditures made and to be made for additional property, construction, etc., and for contemplated appropriations and expenditures. No such charge was made in the last quarter of 1904.

ANOTHER STRIKE ON THE EL PASO

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 30.—It is reported that an ore shoot that is large and rich has been struck in the property of the El Paso Consolidated company in operations conducted on company account. The scene of the strike is said to be on one of the bottom levels. No statement concerning the discovery has been made by officials and stockholders do not encourage interviews. This attitude, along with the heavy sales of the last two weeks, has strengthened the belief that a strike has been made.

DIRECTORS SUED FOR ASSIGNED WAGE CLAIMS

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Jan. 30.—Although the company is defunct, E. K. Hutchinson, who holds assigned claims for wages aggregating $536.47 against the Exposition Mines and Leasing company, will try to collect from the directors of the company. A suit against A. D. Kenyon, C. E. Grant, W. S. Walker and S. L. Conlin, directors, will be brought by him in the district court tomorrow, the complaint being based on an uncommon legal technicality, that whereas a recent statute provides that if any company fails to file with the secretary of state regularly its annual report, its directors shall be liable individually for any claim for wages that may arise. This report, it was ascertained from the secretary of state, has not been filed, although the company has been in existence about two years. The company owned and operated a cyanide mill on the Los Angeles claim of Bull hill. It was burned recently and not rebuilt.

CITY OF CRIPPLE CREEK COMPANY TO RESUME

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 30.—The 28 employes of the City of Cripple Creek Gold Mining company shared in the distribution of $4,000 back wages due them for work on the company's property at Fourth and Myers avenue and on the Maid of Orleans claim of Beacon hill. Work was suspended recently when the company became involved. On the day of the suspension a round of shots fired on the second level exposed an improvement in conditions. It is believed by Manager James McIlwee that the top of an ore shoot has been reached. He is eager to resume work, that the value of the property may be determined, and for the purpose of arranging a resumption he will leave for Chicago tomorrow to meet the board of directors.

ORE ON THE AXTEL.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 30.—A shaft on the Axtel claim of the Midway company has been sunk to a depth of 276 feet by Lessee Fogleman. A station is being cut and a crosscut will be started tomorrow toward an ore shoot, calculated to be 100 feet ahead. Three shoots of fair size and superior quality were opened on the level above. Several carloads were settled for at the rate of $80 to the ton.

PLAYING CARDS MAY LEAD TO RATE WAR

If the Rock Island system and the Denver & Rio Grande should get into a railroad war in the near future, it will be due to a rate war on playing cards. While the diplomatic relations have not yet been strained, there is trouble brewing.

For many years the Rock Island has sold playing cards and the road has had the field exclusively in local railroad circles. The cards were sold at the city office of the Rock Island at 15 cents per pack. But a week ago the city office of the D. & R. G. received a shipment of Rio Grande playing cards and these were placed on sale at the same price. City Agent W. W. Wood and his assistant, Harry Youngerman, immediately put their heads together and, as a result, Rock Island playing cards sold at two packs for 25 cents yesterday.

When interviewed last evening City Agent J. M. Ellison of the D. & R. G. said, "We will not lower the price of our playing cards to meet those Rock Island people. Our cards are worth 15 cents per package, and if you don't want to pay that much and get 'good' cards, you can buy Rock Island cards."

Harry Youngerman of the Rock Island says that he is out to corner the card market and will do so at any cost. He says his cards have pretty pictures on the back and are the finest ever. "If the Rio Grande people don't think our cards are good," says Mr. Youngerman, "let them come around and play me a little game for fun, money or marbles. I can beat anybody in town if they use Rock Island cards."

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU.

Few People Realize the Importance of Good Digestion Until It Is Lost.

Many people suffer from dyspepsia and do not know it. They feel mean, out of sorts, peevish, do not sleep well, do not have a good keen appetite, do not have the inclination and energy for physical or mental work they once had, but at the same time do not feel any particular pain or distress in the stomach. Yet all this is the result of poor digestion, an insidious form of Dyspepsia which can only be cured by a remedy specially intended to cure it and make the digestive organs act naturally, and properly digest the food eaten. Bitters, after dinner pills and nerve tonics will never help the trouble; they don't reach it. The new medical discovery does. It is called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is a specific for dyspepsia and indigestion. It cures because it thoroughly digests all wholesome food taken into the stomach, whether the stomach is in good working order or not.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by digesting the food, instead of making the worn out stomach do all the work, gives it a much needed rest and a cure of dyspepsia is the natural result.

When you are nervous, run down and sleepless, don't make the common mistake of supposing your nervous system needs treatment and fill your stomach with powerful nerve tonics which make you feel good for a little while only to fall back farther than ever.

Your nerves are all right, but they are starved, they want food.

Nourish them with wholesome everyday food and plenty of it, well digested, and you can laugh at nerve tonics and medicine.

But the nerves will not be nourished from a weak, abused stomach, but when the digestion has been made perfect by the use of this remedy all nervous symptoms disappear.

Who ever heard of a man or woman blessed with a vigorous digestion and good appetite being troubled with their nerves?

Good digestion means a strong nervous system, abundance of energy, and capacity to enjoy the good things of life.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will certainly set your stomach and digestive organs right; they can't help but do it because they nourish the body by digesting the food eaten, and rest the stomach.

You get nourishment and rest at one and the same time, and that is all the worn out dyspeptic needs to build him up and give new life to every organ and an added zest to every pleasure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a godsend to the army of men and women with weak stomachs and nerves and justly merits the claim of being one of the most worthy medical discoveries of the time.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE SLEEPING BEAUTY AND THE BEAST."

"The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast" will be seen at the Opera house Saturday evening. The company is reported to be doing record-breaking business everywhere. It is presented on its first trans-continental tour this season. One very good reason for the financial success of this prodigious enterprise is the large attendance it draws from surrounding towns. Comparatively few big scenic productions are staged during a season, and those persons who do not have an opportunity of attending the theater very often naturally feel that they would like to see the best. This season they are actually traveling a hundred miles, and more in many cases, to see "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast," and it is passing all records of attendance, not even counting the phenomenal success of "Ben Hur." The all season of this play at the Broadway theater, New York, has acted as a magnet throughout the country. One of the striking features of the production is the beauty of the costumes displayed during the grand spectacular scenes of the piece, and their artistic originality, which has never been equaled in similar productions of former years.

FLORENCE ROBERTS COMING.

The engagement of Florence Roberts at the Opera house on next Monday evening is of more than usual interest, in that the popular emotional actress will be seen in her latest production, "The Strength of the Weak," described as a new modern play in four acts by Alice M. Smith. Miss Roberts created the leading role in the new play, which is said to provide her with quite the most pretentious work of her career. The part is that of a young orphan, whose education has been provided by her guardian, and who, at the opening of the play, is about to graduate from the Woman's college. She has written a book, published anonymously, which reflects certain phases of her own life and her relations with her guardian. The discovery of the authorship leads to other complications which provide many clever dramatic situations. The characters are all natural and are interpreted by the best company Miss Roberts has ever assembled. Mix Figman, the well known comedian, heads the cast.

THE EMPIRE.

The large audiences at the Empire this week attest to the excellence of the bill. A descriptive overture, entitled, "A Forge in the Forest," is truly grand. The imitations of singing birds, running water, the blowing of the blacksmith's bellows and the flaming forge itself beyond description.

The church scene, in which the beautiful face of Miss Milton is emphasized by her religious garb and the melody of the church chimes under the master band of Gustavius Milton, is perfectly awe-inspiring. This act held the large audience spellbound for fully ten minutes last evening. Church chimes on the vaudeville stage are rare indeed, and from the manner in which their music was received last evening, we may expect theatrical musicians to adopt this form of instrument in lieu of the great many nameless instruments that emit nothing but harsh, rasping sounds.

Miss Lulu Beeson is living up to her reputation as a soft-shoe dancer. Truly she is the most marvelous and graceful dancer ever seen here. Every step is perfect and distinct. She is assisted by Harry Ferguson, the well-known comedian, who makes his part of "Happy" Hooligan. The appearance of "Happy" on the stage drives the theater in a frenzy.

The remainder of the bill is far above the ordinary and one can spend a most enjoyable evening there.

"WHO ARE THESE BLACK MAGICIANS?"

Owing to the fact that a number of people were unable to find seating accommodations in Robbins' hall Sunday night, the management have added several hundred more chairs and every effort will be made to seat all who will want to hear Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall on "Black Magic" tonight.

The famous psychic had expected to terminate his visit here on last Sunday, but found it impossible to get through the course of lessons until next Monday. He therefore will speak in Majestic hall tonight (Wednesday), and again on Sunday evening, when his subject will be "The Inner Life."

The McIvor-Tyndall lectures have been in the nature of a "New Thought" revival, so great has been the interest aroused in the subjects he expounds so clearly and eloquently, and to which the attendance has been phenomenal.

Dr. McIvor-Tyndall covers a wide range of subjects in his discourses, and seems equally well informed upon science, philosophy, psychology, and the deeper lines of metaphysics.

His philosophy, which he prefers to call "Psychic Science," seems to embrace all creeds and cults, ancient and modern, which are given a new meaning in their esoteric interpretation.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will be Interested.

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from female trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for just such operations! It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Margrite Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for the trouble from which I suffered. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made up my mind I would be an invalid for life. Hearing how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had saved other women from serious operations I decided to try it, and in less than four months I was entirely cured; and words fail to express my thankfulness."

Miss Margret Merkley, of 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps, bearing-down pains, and an irritable disposition compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said that I had a serious female trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly objected—and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"To my surprise the ulceration healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared, and I am once more strong, vigorous and well; and I cannot express my thanks for what it has done for me."

Serious feminine troubles are steadily on the increase among women—and before submitting to an operation every woman should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for advice.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been curing the worst forms of female complaints, all functional troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement, weakness, irregularities, indigestion and nervous prostration. Any woman who could read the many grateful letters on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office would be convinced of the efficiency of her advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

STOCKS BREAK

Reading, Colorado Fuel, Union Pacific and Smelting Under Pressure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The stock market broke badly late in the day after a series of imitations of speculative sentiment which [illegible] prices far from [illegible] either direction. The [illegible] of [illegible] lasted until the beginning of the final hour of the session, when stocks began to stream into the market from all directions as though by concerted agreement. News of development to account for the movement was lacking. It was generally attributed to a growing distrust of the technical position of the market and to the growing boldness of an aggressive bear party which has built up in the market in the last few days. This party was credited with a large part of the heavy selling which broke the market yesterday on the nominal grounds of alarm over the congressional resolution of inquiry into the combination of railroads under the Pennsylvania. By this morning opinion had settled down into the feeling that yesterday's violent break in prices was largely due to a cleverly-executed strike by the bear party. The very heavy demand in evidence from yesterday's sellers, which was obviously for the purpose of covering shorts, emphasized the conviction of the large proportion of short selling in yesterday's break. The extent of the decline yesterday, however, had the inevitable effect of precipitating speculative liquidation this morning. There were considerable accumulations of selling orders in commission houses at the opening. In order to guard against a threatening break in prices as might become dangerous to the volume of banking credits, large supporting orders made their appearance in the market to help sustain prices as is the rule at times when acute weakness develops in the market. Orders of this character are not designed to save the situation for the purely speculative element.

With the check to these rapid falls in prices, such orders are invariably withdrawn from the market and the holdings acquired in this process are likely to come back on the market as soon as it is capable of absorbing them. The perception that buying was largely confined to this class and that it is inclined to follow any advance in prices was an encouragement to the renewed attack on the market late in the day by the bear party and a new discouragement to those holding large lines of stocks on speculation for the advance. With the renewal of the decline fresh importance was attached to the action in the house of representatives on the standing of the Pennsylvania group of railroads and to the measure at Albany to investigate the state banking department.

While the market was showing resistance to the depression during the early part of the day, speculative opinion was inclined to be of little importance to business measures. The variable reports of net earnings for December by the Erie, Lehigh Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio and the Canadian Pacific railroads were ignored in the rush to liquidate speculative holdings. The principal pressure of the liquidation centered in Reading, Colorado Fuel, Union Pacific, lead, smelting and such stocks which had been the subject of excessive or reckless speculation in the immediate past. The rush of shorts to cover caused violent rallies at the last, which largely reduced the extent of the declines. The United States Steel stocks were not much affected by the selling and came up strongly at the last, the common rising ⅞ over last night, in anticipation of a favorable statement of net earnings for the quarter to be given out late in the afternoon. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,186,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

WHEAT STRONG

Bullish News Was Both Foreign and Domestic. Other Grains Up.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—The wheat market was strong for the entire day. At the opening the May option was up ⅛ to ¼ to 84¼ at 84 to 84¼. Commission houses were active buyers because of bullish news which was both foreign and domestic. The main strength [illegible] the day [illegible] situation in the United States. There was considerable covering by shorts because of the prediction of the weather bureau of colder weather in the southwest. It was feared that the fall-sown crop might be severely damaged by low temperatures. Toward the middle of the session the market received fresh strength from an official report stating that the drought in India was still unbroken in many provinces. The bulls also found an encouragement in Bradstreet's report of the world's available supply, which reported an increase of only 126,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 1,000,000 bushels for the corresponding week one year ago. During the day the May option sold up to 85⅛@½. The close was strong with May at 85⅛@¼.

Notwithstanding excellent weather for the movement of corn, local receipts today were less than the estimate and this created bullish sentiment in the pit. The strength of wheat and an excellent demand also favored higher prices. The market closed firm and almost at the highest point of the day. May opened a shade to ⅛ higher at 44⅛ to 44¼@⅜, sold up to 44⅝@½ and closed at 44⅝.

Oats were strong in sympathy with wheat and corn. There was active buying by cash houses and shorts. May opened ⅛ higher at 30⅝, advanced to 31 and closed at 30⅞@31.

Provisions were a trifle lower early in the day because of an easier market for live hogs. There was fair buying on the decline and this with reports of heavy shipments strengthened the market. At the close May pork was up a shade at $14.12½. Lard was also up a shade at $7.60@7.62½. Ribs were [illegible] higher at $7.60. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 6 cars; corn, 216 cars; oats, 137 cars; hogs, 41,000 head.

WHEN THE HEART RESTS

[illegible] at [illegible] pointed out [illegible] a fallacy. The heart [illegible] to rest, gets a great deal of rest during sleep [illegible] dangerous, that is to say [illegible] period between each [illegible] no longer to support all the [illegible] of the body, but merely to keep the life in the frame. As for the brain during sleep it becomes pale and shrunk, the heart no longer having to supply it with blood to any like the same extent as in its waking hours. Sleep, in fact, brings a very complete reduction of all the vital processes. Even the tear glands get a rest. This is [illegible] [illegible] waking [illegible] it is in order to stimulate the glands to furnish moisture for the eyes which have become dry as a result of the [illegible] or [illegible] tear fountains.

REV. PARTICLE P. H. MARTIN, L. L. D.

Of Waverly, Texas, writes: "Of a morning, when first arising, I often find a troublesome collection of phlegm which produces a cough and is very hard to dislodge, but a small quantity of Ballard's Horehound Syrup will at once dislodge it, and the trouble is over. I know of no medicine that is equal to it, and it is so pleasant to take. I can most cordially recommend it to all persons needing a medicine for throat or lung trouble." Sold by Hefley-Arguaruus Drug Co.
